DISAPPEARING CITIES

Tony Fry

Description

Disappearing Cities is a collection of short stories of invented cities, set in the not too distant future, destroyed by climate change impacts. The projected fictions are created from projected current climate facts. Inspired by Italo Calvino's book Invisible Cities, the work aims to be a salient contemporary companion text.

UNDISCIPLINED: OF ARCHITECTURAL NOMADISM AND THE REBELLIOUS PRACTICE

Eduardo Kairuz

Description

Undisciplined is concerned with questions of the transformative effects of crisis in architecture as a discipline. Framing the discussion with narratives that immerse the reader in spaces overshadowed by conflict, Undisciplined posits an unorthodox form of architectural production engaged with the contingent elaboration of new and increasingly necessary spatial narratives.

SHIFTING THE SPOTLIGHT IN THE LAW OF RAPE

The Responsibilities of Penetration

Jonathan Herring and Sorcha McCormack

Description

We need a new law of rape. One which puts the focus on the defendant, rather than the victim. Many survivors of rape report that their experience of the criminal courts is that they are on trial. This book argues we need to redefine rape so the focus is on the defendant and his responsibility.

THE ETHICS OF INTERNATIONALISATION

Strangers in the House of Reason

Bregham Dalglish

Description

The commercial turn in the internationalisation of higher education produces numerous paradoxes for the global research university. The Ethics of Internationalisation undertakes a critique of the ethical dilemmas for trans-scholars and the political struggles over the idea of the university itself and proposes an ethics of internationalisation as an alternative.

TRADITIONAL AFRICAN BONESETTERS AND WESTERN MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS

Fractured Patient Care Systems in Cameroon, Ethiopia, Ghana and Zimbabwe

Roxane Richter, Thomas M. Flowers, Elias K. Bongmba and

Ananya K. Admasu

Description

This unique interdisciplinary study of biosocial medicine examines how traditional African bonesetter practices inexorably, and relentlessly, clash with 'Western' care protocols. These long-standing traditional vs. contemporary patient-care collisions in Cameroon, Ethiopia, Ghana and Zimbabwe were documented over eight years via one-on-one interviews with bonesetters, their patients and in-country orthopedic surgeons.

THE USES OF LITERACY IN COLONIAL AUSTRALIA

Martyn Lyons

Description

Relying on autobiographical documents, this book analyses what Australians read in the 19th century, as well as what they wrote, in terms of personal and everyday, non-literary writings. It emphasises the Britishness of colonial society, without forgetting specifically Australian inflections of readers' responses. Australian reading embraced wide-ranging tastes.

DECISIONMAKING IN AN ENLARGED EUROPEAN UNION

Dr. Axel Huelsemeyer

Description

This book discusses EU member state institutions that take all their decisions by unanimity (i.e. individual countries can and do hold all others hostage in order to extract concessions for their vote). On the other end of the spectrum are EU institutions that take most of their votes by so-called qualified majority. In this case, the former hostage holders can now simply be outvoted. Hence, the latter EU institutions could be a likely candidate for a practical solution to the unanimity-voting quagmire.

Madeleine Z. Doty, Edited and Introduction by Julia L. Mickenberg

Description

In 1917 – that is, in the midst of the First World War – Madeleine Z. Doty, a feminist, lawyer, prison reformer, peace activist and journalist, was commissioned by the magazine Good Housekeeping to travel 'around the world' to get a view 'behind the battle line' of how people on the home front, especially women, were responding to the war. Traveling on the Trans-Siberian Railway from China, Doty crossed the border into Russia just days after the Bolshevik Revolution had begun.

An American in the Russian Fighting

Malcom C. Grow, Edited and Introduction by Laurie S. Stoff

Description

Malcolm Grow's commentary presents us with a fascinating personal account of wartime experience, one that highlights a number of pertinent issues of Russia's experience of total war. While military historiography is replete with studies of battle plans and strategies, troop movements, numbers of casualties, territorial gains and decisions of state actors, war is so much more than these, as a fundamentally human experience.

CLIMATES OF MIGRATION

Ecology, Literature, and Propaganda

Dominic Thomas

Description

Climates of Migration offers a transcultural, transhistorical, transcolonial and transnational analysis of the interplay between migration and climate change. The emphasis is on the anxiety, disinformation and fear generated by the political instrumentalization of these issues, and examines how the afterlives of empire are shaping contemporary societies as evident in media discourse, propaganda, literature, art, visual culture, policy-making and new technologies.

BECOMING A DOCTOR

Re-Membering a Medical Education

Christopher D Ward

Description

This book is a personal account of a medical education that began in 1966. Being a medical student and doctor was (and still is) a blend of absurdities, frustrations and joys. The curriculum was shot through with holes in the 1960s, and it still is. A hospital is no place to learn about how ill people live their lives.

RENU RECIPES

Outstandingly Nutritious and Healthy Vegetarian Cuisine

Renu Sood

Description

In preparing this cookbook, I have received wonderful encouragement and support from many quarters. I thank my sons – Fauji, Teji and Inu – their wives for helping me decide on the specific dishes to include. The infectious enthusiasm of my grandchildren for my cooking has propelled me onward, to keep experimenting, learning and improving as a cook. My artist daughter-in-law, Natasha, and her teacher, Simone, were instrumental in crystallizing the concept of this cookbook. I am extremely grateful to them. This cookbook would not be what it is without Oksana's exquisite photographs. Not only has she managed to capture perfectly the essence of the dishes, but she has always been available as a cherished advisor and companion. Finally, from the bottom of my heart I thank my husband and helpmate, Kamaljit. He was there at the very start of the project. He spurred me on and ensured I stayed the course. Without him, this cookbook would never have seen the light of day.

NEO-VICTORIAN LESBIANS ON SCREEN

Sarah E. Maier and Rachel M. Friars

Description

Neo-Victorian Lesbians on Screen, by Maier and Friars, argues that the on-screen portrayal of lesbians situated in the long nineteenth century across various countries is at the very least a dual task; the imperative project of revoicing lesbian silence and female companionship is complicated by the lack of and/or complex representation of such women in the past.

Description

Transnational Coupling in the Age of Nation Making during the 19th and 20th Centuries examines and compares courtship and marriage patterns that occurred between France and the United States during the 19th and 20th centuries. Departing from state-centered studies of marriage law, it draws on the methodologies of transnational history, cultural history and the history of emotion to show that these unions were part of a broader pattern of the larger cultural love affair between the two societies.

FASCISM IN BRITAIN AND THE EXTREME RIGHT VISION

Modernism, Empire and War, 1919-1940

Patrick G. Zander

Description

This book is a new assessment of the ideology and political program of Britain's fascist and extreme right-wing community during the interwar period (1919–1940). It examines this group's belief system as it clustered around three major preoccupations – Modernization, Empire and War – and in so doing, identifies many inconsistencies, contradictions and moral failings.

THE EUROPEAN BYRON

Mobility, Cosmopolitanism, and Chameleon Poetry

Jonathan Gross

Description

This book considers how Byron's cosmopolitanism, mobility and chameleon style influenced Byron's identity in West and Eastern Europe. Transformed by French translations, Byron's work was read by Thomas Moore, Ugo Foscolo, Lady Mosergan, Madame de Staël, Adam Mickiewicz and Alexander Pushkin. His ironic style in 'The Island' anticipated themes explored by Harlem Renaissance writers such as Countee Cullen and Russian poet Marina Tsvetaeva, while his death in Greece shaped how Adam Mickiewicz and Alexander Pushkin chose to live and end their lives.

THE GIG PUBLIC

AI-Driven Contractual and Habitual Performativisation of Publicness

Slavko SplichalDescription

The book introduces the concept of the 'gig public' to reimagine the public's role in societies increasingly shaped by the dynamics of surveillance capitalism and algorithmic governance, reaffirming foundational critical sociological approaches – particularly its habitual and contractual roots – that are often overlooked by traditional public sphere theories.

THE ETHICS OF INTERNATIONALISATION

Strangers in the House of Reason

Bregham Dalgliesh

Description

The commercial turn in the internationalisation of higher education produces numerous paradoxes for the global research university. The Ethics of Internationalisation undertakes a critique of the ethical dilemmas for trans-scholars and the political struggles over the idea of the university itself and proposes an ethics of internationalisation as an alternative.

Anthem Studies in Theatre and Performance

Anthem Studies in Theatre and Performance takes a broad, global approach to cultural analysis to examine and critique a wide range of performative acts from the most traditional forms of theatre studies (music, theatre and dance) to more popular, less structured forms of cultural performance. The twenty-first century in particular has seen theatre and performance studies become a major perspective for examining, understanding and critiquing contemporary culture and its historical roots. Performance is thus a vital manifestation of culture that is enacted, a form to be experienced, recorded, analysed and theorized.

Anthem symplokē Studies in Theory

This series presents highly readable and relevant monographs which focus on both the uses of critical theory and how critical theory works. Books in this series adhere to a vision of theory that is rigorous yet accessible, cutting edge but not obscure, and metaprofessionally committed but not doctrinaire. Focused around the five key themes of comparative theory, metaprofessional studies, interdisciplinary theory, key concepts in contemporary theory and key figures in contemporary theory, this series will examine contemporary critical theory that is at the edge of current thinking and sets the theoretical agenda for the future in the humanities.

TRANSNATIONAL COUPLING IN THE AGE OF NATION MAKING DURING THE 19TH AND 20TH CENTURIES

Nicole Leopoldie

Now in Paperback

Description

Transnational Coupling in the Age of Nation Making during the 19th and 20th Centuries examines and compares courtship and marriage patterns that occurred between France and the United States during the 19th and 20th centuries. Departing from state-centered studies of marriage law, it draws on the methodologies of transnational history, cultural history and the history of emotion to show that these unions were part of a broader pattern of the larger cultural love affair between the two societies.
