Presents the history, culture, and everyday life of Artsakh through photographs and essays, while reflecting on the loss of its Armenian population and the erasure of its cultural heritage after the recent conflict.

Nagorno-Karabakh: Portrait of a Homeland combines striking images by well-known photographers with articles by experts on history, arts, and daily life of the area before the 2023 mass exodus of the entire Armenian population. The book presents the cultural and natural vibrancy of Nagorno-Karabakh from prehistory to present.

Key selling points

Presents striking images of the land and its people

Offers engaging essays on history, daily life, traditions, and arts

Explores a unique culture reflecting a history of interaction with neighboring peoples

Documents the ethnic cleansing, mass exodus of the entire population, and the continuing destruction of its material remains
