This book is a collection of thirty-five opinion pieces, essays, and poems written by a prominent academic commentator on a wide variety of U.S. public policy topics. The opinions are highly-informed, tough-minded, and solution-oriented, reflecting a moderate, implementable approach to policy solutions.

The book collects almost thirty-five opinion pieces, essays, and two poems by the author on a wide variety of public policy topics written and published between 2006 and 2022. The author, a self-described “militant moderate,” draws on his participation in many public debates. The articles are grouped into six, topical groupings that range widely: the growing need for moderate voices in policy debates; the nature of American exceptionalism; the challenge of civic discourse; the depredations of the Trump years; and policies concerning immigration, citizenship, and refugees.

Readership

The writing is aimed at the college-educated reader who craves a balanced view of prominent public issues informed by a probing, moderate mind devoted to finding sound, implementable solutions.
